

GEMINI

2012 Monthly Forecasts

January

Relationships heat up this month, dear Gemini. There is a provocative energy surrounding you that tends to pull previously buried issues with others to the surface for resolve. You might have more energy and confidence to pursue a new relationship. You are taking charge of your work and daily health routines this month. It's a strong period for starting a new program or routine to improve your health or work, especially after the 18th when career matters become clearer. More credibility on the job is likely now. Your humble confidence will go a long way towards improving your reputation and professional status. The last ten days of the month are especially favourable for love and relationship matters. You can now clear the air and move forward.

February

Career and professional matters are strong, rewarding, and exciting this month, dear Gemini. While you cannot say your career is carefree these days, as challenges are also part of the experience, you are bound to find many opportunities to grow and develop on a professional level this month and beyond. You are dreaming big, and many of you are experiencing a rebuilding of inner faith. The 13-14 is excellent for beginning any positive thinking or life management program -- your heart and mind are entirely ready for it.

March

Your career is on the upswing in March, dear Gemini. The 7-8 and 15-17 are especially strong periods for material and professional success. Pleasantly surprising events are happening in your career mid-month. The 7-8 is also good for positive energy in love and partnership. In general, people in your life are becoming more accommodating from the 10th forward. March should be quite prosperous for you. A friendship is becoming clearer and less complicated. You are ironing out your differences. Wonderful conversations with friends and lovers this month help to lift your spirits.

April

Do not let business get put on the sidelines as you prepare for the holidays this month, or you will let something very important slip away from you. You're taking too many chances in an area that is personal to you and you know what I'm talking about. It is wise for you to stop doing this, or at least cut it down to moderation. This is not a good month for secrets, so try your best not to tell any to anyone.

May

You are especially magnetic this month, dear Gemini, particularly in the second half of May. Love and appreciation are easy to attract this month. Your desire to learn, share ideas, and improve your skills is powerful. Strong energy for new beginnings in close relationships is with you in the last week of the month. It's also a time when exciting professional and travel opportunities could arise, seemingly out of the blue. Stimulating changes in the realms of friendships, group connections, and business plans are on the horizon.

June

Socially, June brings excitement and opportunity, dear Gemini. Meeting new people, sudden new friendships, and, for some of you, partnership opportunities are themes this month. Experimentation is especially important to you, as you are feeling adventurous and courageous. The unknown or unexplored is alluring, and you might make some plans to travel. You have a lot on your mind and are itching to share it. Others will find you especially witty and interesting. Some worries over money are possible, and adjustments and changes are necessary in order to alleviate stress.

July

Finances are not without concern for you this month, dear Gemini, but there is excellent energy with you for making a fresh start. A new budget or plan is in order. Luckily, good advice is easy to find now. Many of you will be redecorating and reorganizing your homes in July. It's also a strong month for entertaining and peace-making with family. Challenges in your love life or with children that you first faced some months ago resurface in the last week of July. You are required to take action and bring more structure and reality to your life. Luckily, you are feeling especially capable and composed. New friendships recently made or rekindled continue to figure strongly in your life this month, but some challenges are now present that don't exactly squash your enthusiasm, but tame it somewhat. Financial backing or reliability of income sources might be in question in July. Personal energy is significantly improved now, as if a weight has been lifted off your shoulders, this extra "get up and go" does wonders for your outlook.

August

A love affair could become serious this month, dear Gemini. Perhaps there are ultimatums or the need to bring more definition to your love life. For some of you, children could do with improved schedules and discipline. Once that's settled, you can especially enjoy spending time together. A creative project suddenly demands attention this month. You may be thinking of ways to make a business out of a hobby or creative pastime. August should be a highly creative, romantic, and playful month overall. The 20th could bring excitement in love, but also some hesitancy on your part. Your ruler, Mercury, turns retrograde at the same time, and you require more time to think things through than usual. Some problems on the home front need ironing out from the 20th forward. Domestic projects that you haven't tended to diligently could begin to show flaws. Exciting career matters come to light on the 24th.

September

Interesting surprises occur in September, dear Gemini, in the areas of partnerships, career, and reputation or social standing. These can serve to push you out of a no-win or dead-end position. Some of you will be experiencing exciting changes in close relationships, meeting new people that further your career, or encountering new opportunities through travel or educational interests. You are learning about the world around you through the eyes of a special person--or through other one-to-one relationships, such as clients. Meeting a partner through travel or educational activities, partnering with a co-worker, or working with a partner are also possible. Much creativity is brought to your work this month, and you could find yourself especially motivated by, and passionate about, the work you do. New routines may be in order. Family matters that have been troubling clear up by the middle of September. Shared finances and debts become clearer now as well. Decision making becomes much more straightforward at this time.

October

Complications on the work front are very possible this month, dear Gemini. Projects may stall or could be in need of review. Try your best to work independently and to set your own pace on the job because team work can be challenging now. Overall, however, you are in a playful and demonstrative mood. Love relationships are not as straightforward as you'd like, but as long as you avoid heady discussions, you'll be fine. Others are finding you charming but could be hesitant just for now. A friend requires your support around the 22nd.

November

Business should subtly improve this month, and you are likely to be backed by superiors, dear Gemini. Romantic opportunities abound, or your focus on one partner becomes more expansive, warm, and intimate. Benefit can come through jointly held resources, loans, or taxes, but continue to watch for impulsive spending. Your mind is especially bright, alert, and active now, and you have the ability to come up with unusual and inventive ideas. Sharing your thoughts with others is a prime interest. Long-term goals towards happiness are spotlighted.

December

You will accomplish the most through or. Put your efforts into moneymaking ventures. New friendships will develop through group events. Networking will be a necessity. Your luckiest events this month will occur on a Monday. Balancing your needs with those of a significant other involves plenty of negotiating and back-and-forth before arriving at any conclusions this month, dear Gemini. Times like these require a certain amount of tact and a need to let others take center stage for the time being. A loan or repayment is likely to make headlines for you towards the end of December. A personal project could bear fruit around the Full Moon on the 12th, which occurs in your sign. An intimate conversation with someone special can be very revealing mid-month.