

CANCER

2012 Monthly Forecasts

January

Energy is dynamic this month for work and health matters, dear Cancer. It's a good time for applying yourself to projects that require attention to detail, as well as for researching and implementing new health routines and programs for self-improvement. It's important to you to set your own pace and rhythm. If you are feeling like a slave to routine or to the schedules of others, you might stimulate conflict with people around you. If you've been waiting for word on a new job or a career plan, it's more likely to arrive this month. Love matters move forward after the 18th, when confusing emotional situations begin to dissipate. It's also a strong time for creative pursuits, educational or legal matters, and travel.

February

Plenty of career developments are in the works, dear Cancer, as you take the time to re-assess your professional life and responsibilities. In March and April, matters will begin to move quickly, with a raise a definite possibility; but now is the time for analysis rather than action. Love has been tricky recently, and continues to baffle you in February. The chance to have some adventurous fun, however, can help take your mind off your troubles on the 7-9, 14-16, and the 27-28. Some of you will have opportunities for higher learning, travel, or other mind-expanding experiences.

March

Practical matters, including finances and career, are beginning to clear up for you this month, dear Cancer. You are putting confusing situations and insecurities about your earning power or career path behind you, particularly after the 10th. Some of you might even enjoy a promotion or other type of honour in your career. Others are appreciating your knowledge and breadth of vision. You are making beneficial connections and finding it easy to take problems in stride. Some of you are considering taking courses that will boost your professional appeal.

April

A relative gets some bad news concerning a close friend of theirs, and will look to you for support. Even though they will make light of the situation, be aware that they are hurting deeply inside. Travel is very possible this month, and if you should find yourself in the situation of taking an airline, prepare yourself mentally for an ordeal at the airport. If you handle this correctly the aggravation will be at a minimum, if you are not mindful however, it could get out of hand.

May

Motivation to make money is strong this month, dear Cancer. You are also enjoying lively friendships and group activities. The work you do could find financial support in May, or your work may be related to supporting others' talents and resources. Many of you will achieve more recognition, a promotion, or a position of increased responsibility on the career front this spring and summer, and unusual developments in May seem to be pushing you in that direction. Work is stimulating and a little hectic in the last week of the month.

June

Finances are strong for you this month, dear Cancer, and many of you will be enjoying gifts and bonuses. The first three weeks of the month find you more introspective than usual. Many of you are putting a lot of energy into studies and projects. Sudden or unexpected career opportunities are likely in June—you are approaching a professional peak of sorts. Some of you will be discovering your "true calling" this summer. The need to make changes in your love life becomes clearer as the month draws to a close.

July

A Solar Eclipse occurs in your sign on July 11th. Before the eclipse is an excellent period for review, meditation, and any kind of purging activity that rids you of things that no longer serve you well. From the 11th, you shift gears. It's all about you and your attitude now, and it's time to reinvent yourself. As you make changes to how you approach the world, you will find that you attract different experiences and people into your life. Finances are very strong this month. People are supportive and offering good, objective advice. Pressures that you felt some months ago surrounding family and partnerships resurface towards the end of the month, signalling the need to take action. Facing important realities is part of the picture, and while it's not always comfortable, it's necessary and positive. Career matters remain super-charged and exciting in July, but hurdles and kinks in your plans might present themselves and force you to reassess matters. Again, it may not feel easy for the time being, but ultimately brings more maturity and realism to your plans.

August

This is an especially lively month for home and family, dear Cancer. Competitive energies on the domestic scene are likely. Responsibilities come to light, and the need for reorganization as well as increased structure to your household becomes apparent. Happily, you are in the mood for straightening out matters on the home front, and it feels good to have the energy to pay more attention to this important area of your life. Family interactions can certainly benefit from more clarity. Job or status changes continue to loom, but a sense of peace this month gives you a breather. Some of you are taking work home with you, where you feel a little more comfortable. August 9th could bring financial opportunities. Circumstances are such that you need to take charge of money matters now. August is certainly a good month for creating a budget. Get your paperwork sorted out before the 20th, after which any corner-cutting you've taken may turn out to add rather than save time.

September

In September, dear Cancer, you are pouring a lot of energy into friendships, networking, learning, and pleasure. The urge for adventure and new experiences that introduce you to new cultures, beliefs, or feelings is very strong mid-month. Sudden opportunities to expand your horizons, such as through travel, adventure, or learning can arise and jolt you out of your routine. New insights into work and health matters keep you motivated. Until the 14th, the probability of some confusion, delays, and misunderstandings with friends and in communications or transportation runs high, after which these matters begin to clear. Love is intense this month, but in a mostly pleasant manner. There is an "all or nothing" energy to romance in September with Venus and Mars both entering Scorpio. Fortunately for you, Scorpio is associated with a feel-good sector of your chart, and you are more likely to experience the "all" part of the "all or nothing" equation! Personal magnetism runs high, especially around the 18th. A career project can blossom for you around the 23rd.

October

The 7th brings new energy for home improvements, dear Cancer, but it's not the best month for major changes. Focus on fixing problems rather than redesigning. Career and family projects bear fruit around the 22nd. More opportunities to enjoy recreation and creative pastimes emerge this month. You'll also attract at least two admirers, especially in the first week of the month. Old flames have a way of reappearing in October, although complications are likely. Review the past but also aim to put it behind you. Work is mostly happy and creative now.

November

Career matters are strong for you this month, dear Cancer. Work requires more communication than usual and you speak with more authority. Your ideas may come into public view. You are likely doing some multi-tasking regarding career and business matters. Relationship ups and downs are likely. Meeting a partner through travel or educational activities is possible for singles. Dealing with others' money or promoting others' talents and resources could figure now. You can negotiate more successfully than ever. Assertiveness and physical vitality are highlighted this month. Financial benefits could come through partnerships.

December

Your sensitivity toward those you love will capture their hearts. Dinner, theatre, or a comedy club may be just the place. Lovers may not be truthful. You may come down with minor infections if you have allowed yourself to get rundown. Your luckiest events this month will occur on a Thursday. You simply can't wait until the New Year to begin fulfilling your resolutions regarding health, fitness, and lifestyle changes, dear Cancer. The time is now! You are raring to go, ready to completely rework your routines. You have more energy than usual for work, projects, and anything that involves reorganizing and restructuring. Taking care of details is what's on your mind now. The last week of December brings intense energy to a partnership or significant relationship. The need for changes in your approach to a partnership becomes apparent now.
